General Comment

I am one out of many other victims in this country who have been illegally implanted, with an illegal brain stimulation/communication chip. I have only experienced 24 years of life and out of my 24 years, I have never been a free American do to Neurological technology. I'm not personally familiar with the tech just know everything I have experienced while being a victim. My normal day in America consists everyday of being around people who know about the technology, some also implanted that telepathically communicate with each other, even me. I have been stalked, HARRASSED, illegally made a celebrity, and all of my private information (including home address and social security number) have been everyone's in this countries visual footage to see. I am raped everyday (result of brain stimulation), or assaulted when I am working, sexually abused 2 times in medical establishments and just completely treat like someone who doesn't belong here. Because of all of this I have no way to survive and the city that I reside in withholds resources and services from me unless its mental health care. This technology literally enables any human in the world with the access to transmit to the implants inside of me, control my entire mind. This includes my actions, the words that come out of my mouth, my pain, my thoughts, my cells, my nerves, my organs, my blood pressure, my heart rate, my breathing, my brain, and whatever else the brain controls. I have lived 3 in a half years in this city and each year the people who live here torture me more and more everyday. At my jobs, at the hotel rooms I was living in, in all of my relationships, my therapy, my medication effects, inhumane living conditions, sabotage and so much more. With that being said technology innovation is hard to imagine. I mean I have been implanted since the beginning of the early 2000s. Imagining technology more enhanced than humans mind controlling other living things is scary. Unless you are practicing measures that can counteract the technology. Like neurological jammers, or even people who would know I detect illegal implantation of the device. These devices are very tiny and leave no scarring or even point of entry wound. If there are more victims out there other than, 6 people outside of me, in my family. They didn't know, or they never knew they were ever implanted. This thing is one of the biggest problems in America, it's taking willpower, consciousness, religion, since of reality, stealing your identity. And gives criminals the easiest way to murder by suicide, or even someone else. It's also the easiest way to have brought back slavery. I am a slave in America in the year 2025 and so is 6 more people I know for sure today. Our lives are not our own. (But those 6 people have no idea)
