General Comment

I am just a small fish in a big tech farm and wanted to comment on the recent use of AI. Before Google released its helpful content update and spam update that seem aimed at destroying independents sites while promoting big brands pushing AI scraped content, there was a economy for people to survive if they wanted to go in business. Since then countless of small local businesses were demolished and replaced with a small number of nationwide brands and they get their content scraped from other. None of the people have any expertise in what they do except finding a way to become a middle man due to Google search team ruthless vision of promoting AI content to new levels. Writing this is a small business, if big tech firms like google going to destroy people's business, cut jobs and ruin a economy, there should be a penalty. This is the opposite of national security and a crazy comeback to theft.
