General Comment

As if this dumpster fire of an Administration could not make any more decisions against the interests of the American people. Gutting intellectual copyright protections seeks only to benefit thieves who value their hexagonal-shaped profile pictures on X over human ingenuity and creationism. It sets a precedent that no man is truly free to create - which is wholly antithetical to the very concept of the "Land of the Free," in favor of tech-bros and robotic despots that were not even born on this soil. You seek to destroy that which defines humanity with this draft, and should it move forward - you will have a lot more to fear for. A fascist regime begins with the stripping of expressionism, among all creatives, as their ideas threaten authority the most and evoke emotions in a way that no politician could hope to wield meaningfully. Shame on you, every member of your "administration", and every grain of dirt unfortunate enough to land below your gangled, bunion-riddled feet. You are lower than scum, and the American people will not forgive these transgressions against their right to humanity.
