General Comment

AI technology should be our last priority. It costs jobs, it costs resources and it produces low quality for the consumer as a rule. AI as it is expressed by technology companies is a science fiction concept. AI cant innovate or even synthesize, it simply reproduces patterns. As it stands, ai is used more often as a tool for dangerous disinformation than it is to solve problems. We don't need help figuring out how to solve problems, we need the resources to do it and AI is in direct contradiction to those efforts. The economy is already in danger, taking people's jobs and creating environmental dangers in their communities will only lead to further long-term unrest.
