General Comment

The plan in question (The AI Action Plan) is not going to help the protection of copyright if you listen to OpenAI, Google, and Ai developers. They want total protection over their illegal scraping of copyrighted materials. And that would discourage the development of the new arts. Because, if we know that AI companies would scrape it, why should we? Please do not go along with the action plan in order to please the AI development corporations. Please respect the Berne Convention.
