General Comment

These major companies with so much money are demanding the government of all things step in and make it legal to steal our, artists of all shapes and sizes, work because of what...a hypothetical foreign threat? Our work is so lacking of worth but is worth having a governmental body force it to be given away? This isn't some great voluntary action for the betterment of mankind garbage. This is theft for their profit off our hard work without so much as a please or a thank you. We don't make content for free use. If we WANTED to do that we would do that. There would be dialogue. There is none. This is just forcibly ripping our own material from our human bodies and giving it to a giant corporation to make garbage with and being told that we just feel too much. Honestly I'm getting beyond tired and maybe just a touch angry at all of this AI garbage. Do better.
