General Comment

As an artist, I need copyright protection to protect my work and income as an American citizen. Generative AI is actively harming the work that I do. It is allowing people to piggyback off the hard work of other creatives without lifting a finger. I went to college and taught myself beyond that to be able to do what I do. I have already lost opportunities due to the use of this technology being unregulated in its current state. Opening Generative AI up to being able to train on copywritten materials would be absolutely devastating to individuals like me, small business, and likely larger production companies as well. Generative AI is not innovation, it is only recycling the work of others to create inferior results.
