General Comment

Without proper oversight and strident accountability protocols, there is no path forward where AI is not abused by a handful in power. Wielded by these few influential persons adjacent to our government, AI systems pose a real and imminent threat to national security.

Any allusions to “AI dominance” are simply hype from interests in Silicone Valley trying to capitalize on a new sort of arms race.

I do not believe AI companies hold the interests of the American people above themselves and their shareholders, and only seek to pervert science for political and extreme monetary gain at others’ expense.
