General Comment

I am a content creator in crafts and DIY. No one is considering the long term implications of how AI affects content creators. What is the motivation for someone like me to continue to generate ideas and tutorials? I'm not going to generate content to make money for Google or ChatGPT. I implore you to consult with content creators closely on this. I'm not saying AI shouldn't exist - but with the way it is now, there is zero motivation to feed the beast. This significantly affects small businesses like mine in negative ways.
