General Comment

Hi, as a born and raised American citizen who has grown up with many creative friends and who has his own inspirational drive, I speak out. One of the key things that makes the United States of America so great has been its artistic forms that have been fostered over the centuries. Writing, painting, drawing, digital art, video games, and the movie industry all have been given a pedestal here in this country. Supporting “AI” in the manners proposed will hurt not just American spirit, but disgrace our legacy and to those who are financially astute, our economy even more. There have been plenty of troubles born out of it already, many of which are highly costly. So, to reiterate, don’t use “AI” not just because it’s inefficient but because it is also not American.
