General Comment

I am a good blogger that has been creating and posting recipes since 2017. As a small business, I rely on traffic to my website to earn a living. With the introduction of AI in search results, I have seen a negative impact in the search volume coming to my site. I believe it is unfair for Google and Open AI to use my content to train its LLMs, and then show those results in search ahead of my own, original content. If this continues, many small bloggers will be forced to shut down, limiting the creative output by many, and ultimately hurting not only small businesses but stifling creativity and output. Please consider this, and do not let Google and Open AI monopolize the internet.
