General Comment

I don't believe generative AI has a future in America and should not be supported and given free reign like this. Major companies are already starting to pull back their AI integration because it is expensive and extremely resource intensive to run, while also being generally unpopular with the consumer.

It is a waste of money. And resources to power it.

It will be a massive waste of tax payer money to support this industry.

Please set this action plan aside and focus on providing meaningful relief to the American citizen who are struggling to make ends meet. Struggling to keep their children fed.
