General Comment

AI does far more harm than good to artists, businesses, and the very essence of humanity which I believe is centered in art. It is a blatant violation of ethics to build and train AI models off of the labor of non-consenting artists, not to mention that we should be training AI to take care of menial and laborious tasks, not our pastimes and hobbies. I strongly encourage the government to reevaluate the place that AI will take in our society, and urge you steer it away from making creativity a thing of the past.
