General Comment

AI does not have any benefit to current nor the future of America. It directly violates the Fifth Amendment, one of the first 10 this country was built upon. "Private property shall not be taken for public use, without just compensation," AI directly takes the private property of Americans to generate its content with zero compensation for them. This inherently infringes on the rights and freedoms of Americans, to be able to protect and do what they wish with their own private property. It is exactly the opposite of what America represents and stands for.
