General Comment

Hello, I am a concerned US citizen.

This law that OpenAI and Google is trying to push is extremely harmful and will destroy the lives of thousands to millions. This will crash a plethora of creative economies and lead us to a world that strays from humanity, creativity, and ideas, into a world that is only built against us.

Creative copyright gives people a chance to explore, express themselves, and earn a living creating by being able to identify unique creations that they make. This allows people to get started in entertainment mediums, that are detrimental to humanity's continuation, and not fear that their work is going to be plagiarized by a process they have no control over. AI generated content can never fill the hole that will be left by this, human creativity is necessary for us to continue, and an artificial intelligence can never replicate a human work in a way that feels, or is, human. They can not replicate the emotion, the understanding, and the compassion that goes into these works, and it is very easy to tell as an enjoyer of these works that they don't even begin to spark any positive emotion that entertainment and creative mediums have for centuries.

So for the sake of all creatives and all people, please do not alter the current law in favor of what those operating artificial intelligence want, they are only going to harm all of humanity by doing this.
