General Comment

This promotion/protection of AI technology is a smokescreen to cover blatant theft of works created by others in order to generate wealth for people who do not, and have never, created anything worthwhile on their own. AI offers no benefit to humanity as a whole, and does irreversible environmental damage to a world already being allowed to burn over shortsighted monetary gains.

AI is currently "trained" using stolen work created by actual artists, who are already not properly compensated for their work, so that husks of corporate malfeasance can add one more zero to their earnings report at the expense of everything else.

Do not choose AI and removal of oversight on technology companies over the people who actually provide humanity with something besides money and ego.
