General Comment

I do not believe AI has any benefit to the future of America whatsoever. Not only has it been proven time & time again that it has plagiarized many different works (such as digital artwork, online articles published to websites, writings/scripts, etc.), but it also has been used for deeply malicious purposes, such as to create vulgar or explicit images of well-known celebrities & figures. It also has been used to create digital replications of normal people; if an individual wanted to, they could very easily generate content of said person engaging in acts that are deemed criminal, vulgar or explicit in nature, deeply violating the privacy of one's life and potentially causing nothing but emotional turmoil upon them.
