General Comment

Copyright laws and patents all dictate that the information used to train AI models by AI companies must be attributed and compensated for. If president Trump's plan includes upholding copyright and patent law and compensating the authors of information used to train AI, I agree the US can be the forefront of the AI revolution. If not, president Trump's AI plan needs to be scrapped. I am a skilled, full time senior software engineer in the AI security space; we cannot abandon our laws for profit.
