General Comment

I've been a freelance illustrator and sole proprietor in the lucrative gaming industry for almost 20 years, and i think AI must be regulated to a large extent when it comes to IP infringement.

I like many other of my colleagues have had my work "scraped" and included in Midjourney and other generative AI programs without our consent or compensation. These companies take our work and train their AI models on it, claim the action is fair use, and then seek to copyright each new AI image. This is not fair use.

Ive never been asked, consulted, signed or been included in any discussion, agreement, or contract regarding an AI Corporate entity and the use of my personal or professional work. This is just bad business, as generative AI will impinge and supress a very lucrative creative field (graphic designers, illustrators, commercial artists) of rich talented tax payers and replace it with cheap (and crappy) knockoffs.

Please protect the artists and creatives of America from the corporations who only seek to drain our talent and leave us workless and consequently penniless, i think we have and do offer much to our government and our businesses. We are all small businessmen and women, and small businesses are the heart and soul of America, please protect us and regulate generative AI to protect our personal, professional, and original IP work.

Thankyou for your time.
