General Comment

Either copyright laws should be loosened for all, or not at all. No preference should be given to corporations, and this just reinforces the Trump administration's favoritism towards corporate interests and billionaires rather than prioritizing a fair deal for hard-working American citizens. Why should corporations get a break from copyright law but everyday people do not? Unfair! The hyper surrounding AI has thus far proven to be just that, hype, and it's not the average American citizen who benefits from that hype.
