General Comment

This is an incredibly dangerous act that will take away work from millions of Americans and further tank the economy. Additionally, letting AI train on copywritten material is highly unethical and unlawful. Will disney be happy that their work can be derived on? Will they support people using AI to create harmful, pornographic 'art' with their characters that is accessible to children on the Internet? I don't think so. I urge every person who will make decisions around this to consider the harmful, long lasting reach something like this will have on the youth, professionals, and all decent Americans.
