General Comment

A large part of what makes our country great is the conglomeration of incredibly intelligent and creative minds that make up the American people. Those people, who will have no confidence in engaging those minds when everything they create will be stolen from them wholesale to be chopped up and regurgitated by an algorithmic program; a program that not only cannot operate properly without that theft, but also requires huge amounts of energy that places a great strain on our national natural resources.

Unchecked AI development is fundamentally at odds with the health and success of the American people.

Please respect and encourage the ingenuity and creative individuality of American Citizens that make this country great and the global media leader that it is. Do not allow the protections for those citizens to be undermined for the monetary gains of a few.

Thank you.
