General Comment

This itself is why we need regulation on agencies. AI development should not be based on the the actual artwork and physical work of people without their consent.

The whole point of this is to literally hurt a working class. Implementing allowing a big conglomerate such as google to get access to data in such a way and to develop it further is going to harm working people.

THIS itself is not what AI should be trained on nor does AI generative programs help when it is actively used to reduce staffing as a cost cutting measure.

All of this with this current administration is a sign that this is a conflict of interest as people in power will benefit from such regulations being passed.
