General Comment

I do not believe AI holds a place in the future of our society. It's sole creation steals from the passion and creativity of citizens and individuals deserving of credit and compensation for their hard work. Without proper compensation to these creators, AI learns and provides content through theft, and that is something I refuse to support, and will fight against until my voice is hoarse.

This plan purely seeks to profit off stolen goods, and ruins the opportunities for business and networking from the hardworking artists deserving of recognition.
