General Comment

It's honestly disappointing that the administration is moving to fight against people's right to their copywritten endeavors, that a basic right to own your property is trying to be stripped away from the American People.

This is a move to steal from creatives from all walks of life for nothing than a quick buck for the bloated tech sector. This isn't a push to lead in an industry that's important, this is a push for mass theft and the violation of privacy and copyright.

I'm frankly appalled that people would even consider doing something like this, but then I remember that we have an appointed "Crypto Czar" even though crypto currency, Generative AI, NFT's, all the things that the tech sector is trying to cash in on is nothing but a huge scam.

When we have a crook running the government, and his billionaire friend as the president well....I can't say I'm surprised.

I'm not an artist, I'm not a writer, I'm not an actor or voice actor, I'm not even someone who takes pictures while on vacation. But this is a slap in the face to everyone that has ever picked up a pen, camera, or even decided to move their body.

This is theft of the human experience for nothing more than personal gain by way of stealing that which makes life worth living.
