General Comment

AI actively steals from hard working creators without permission, including big name companies stealing from smaller groups. Not only does this create an unethical and anti-creative bankruptcy, but the output of material by OpenAI is incorrect at best and catastrophically dangerous at worst. Letting OpenAI do what it wants gives scammers, con-artists (both literal and figurative), and numerous government actors to release dangerous and potentially illegal material, without any repercussions. Not to mention how it would kill economic creativity in a way no one would have ever imagined.

Making this plan is absurd and a slap to the millions of people who are at risk of having their likeness, their information, as well as those around them, used without permission for who knows what?

This cannot go into effect, period.
