General Comment

This is incredibly stupid and incredibly dangerous. Absolving AI of copyright infringement is theft, pure and simple. And any legislation that advocates for the prevention of regulations for and/or the deregulation of AI and its companies has no rational foresight. AI is environmentally wasteful, it actively steals to create, the capabilities of AI are still being studied and humans are bullishly pushing it forward without the proper discussion and approval of the public for whom it has a diversity of negative impacts. Stop AI, the majority of Americans don't want it and it is actively harming us by its very existence.
