General Comment

I do not wish for AI to be openly supported like this, or in any manner similar. AI is built on stolen information and media, and I do not want a plan that allows them to continue doing so without any backlash whatsoever. Whatever data is used to train AI does not belong to the AI's developers, but to the original creators of said data and media. Additionally, even with this stolen data, AI has been proven to be faulty numerous times, and I do not see any benefit is developing AI further.
