General Comment

I do not believe generative AI holds a place in the future of the United States. On top of being an overhyped technology that is causing potentially irrevocably harm to the environment, it is a blatant scam that overtly steals the work and the livelihood of honest, legitimate artists. As an American, I'm disgusted by many things the government is currently doing (and even things it did during previous administrations), but this is one of the most offensive to me as someone who loves and values art.
