General Comment

I will say my beliefs on AI as a whole and this act in particular as concisely as I can.

- * Removing copyright protections for the sake of AI's advancement will cause more harm than good.
- * Making AI easier to develop instead of harder may enable bad actors seeking to use AI to create and/or exacerbate national security concerns.
- * AI profits off of and steals the hard work of real people which will only worsen the recession we are headed towards at our current trajectory.
- * The government needs to be regulating and governing the use of AI, not letting it ignore regulations and governance without consequences.
