General Comment

With all due respect, OpenAI's attempt to subvert the law by claiming they should be allowed to ignore copyright "For America to Dominate the AI Sector" is complete and utter garbage. If the United States Government decides to simply ignore Copyright Law because they can, then every single person who had money confiscated by the very same Government DESERVES to be paid back with interest, otherwise why obey laws at all. It's either Laws for All, or Laws for None.
