General Comment

Generative AI is a gift of the highest order, an attempt by the rich to outsource creativity. It adds nothing to society while actively taking away from the American people. If generative AI is allowed to do whatever they want without consequence, not only will American citizens lose jobs in droves, but the artistic quality of many of America's "exports" (movies, television, video games, music) are likely to take a nosedive. Do the world a favor and just say no.
