General Comment

Moving forward with AI will completely ruin the profitability and protections of creatives and creative works. I urge those in power to not bow down to Google and OpenAI. Not only will this irreparably damage creative works, it will continue to generate false information and slop, making the internet at minimum unusable. Artists deserve to have their works protected and not regurgitated for a cheap buck. Allowing generative ai to train on copyrighted works, it will cause a ripple effect into every aspect of our lives for the worse. Anything from diagrams in medical textbooks to dangerous advice would make things incredibly unsafe.
