General Comment

This is a gross infringement upon our intellectual property and sets a dangerous precedent for so many things.

There are already plenty of documents AI could use for this purpose.

We are already seeing AI bots posing as real people all over social media, pretending to be small business owners, publishing dangerously erroneous books on herbalism and the like. AI needs to be reigned in, not given free reign to plagiarize the hard work and expertise of people trying their best to make a living in this digital age.
