General Comment

It should be illegal for AI to steal art and literature that humans produce and turn it into an AI slurry that corporations will then use whenever they need art or text that they would otherwise pay an artist to produce. It's like asking artists and writers to train their robot replacements for free. It's worse than that actually because it is theft. And it's really much more than theft because it is so widespread. So many people have been harmed and will continue to be harmed by the rampant pilfering of their creations and will lose money going forward when AI "art" is used to save money over hiring an actual human. This is terrible for the economy.
