General Comment

AI is not the way forward for America. It's already threatened the livelihoods and job security of millions of American citizens and that's without the government removing guardrails that prevent AI developers from further overstepping the intellectual rights and property of hard working Americans. AI inherently steals all the data it uses to "train" it's sets and algorithms, and can only profit by use of theft. AI has no place in America's security, job force, or future.
