General Comment

As an American I've seen how AI companies are actively advertising their services as ways to push workers out because their programs "don't as for work benefits." "Don't need a raise." in front of multiple office buildings and public transportation services. These advertisements are terrifying especially in a struggling job market.

I do not support AI companies training their programs on works it doesn't own let alone training on copy righted works as these companies seek to steal the livelihood and paychecks of millions of American workers.

I reject this plan.
