General Comment

The unfortunate reality of so-called "Artificial Intelligence" is that it does not exist.

I am a 47yo man who has been studying computer technology since I was 7 years old. I built several internet startups and was instrumental in one of the largest online retailers in the world. For a number of years, I worked in social media and SEO (Search Engine Optimization). I know quite a bit about computers, and I also know when people are lying about what a computer can do. This unfortunately happens a lot. We have had DECADES of tech scams which amounted to nothing but boiling water.

I am well aware that people in Leadership positions do not have time to study every subject and hire experts, but it is an open secret that such experts exploit their positions to secure greater positions in private industry. So please take it from a man of faith who lives by the good tenets against Greed and Fraud.

AI does not exist.

There is no such thing as a self-generating program. A computer is a machine. Billions of computers are still a machine. A machine can only do what it is told to do. ChatGPT can be easily trained to lie or the settings adjusted to produce doctored results. There are many people eager to demonstrate this.

Further these results are not impressive. Prompt generated images have existed since the 1990s. The only thing this technology does is steal property from millions of people to barely improve its results. One such example was a video generator capable of rendering stock footage, but without showing us what data was used to generate this video, how do we know this isn't just a copy taken from an archive?

What this order seeks to do is lose these companies, who are presenting this inauthentic product as something which it is not, upon American Economies, American Privacy, American Ethics, American Cultural Exports and further, American Lives to their own PERSONAL ends. It is giving people with steamrollers permission to drive over everyone else's home and lawn and prohibits those who are victimized from giving their consent before or seeking justice after.

Are we so weak? Are you so ready to surrender?

Because that is all this is. Surrender. It is giving up and letting programmers and industrialists run wild upon 300million people do whatever they want and permanently shutting civil authority out of the loop. What they want-- and this is on the record --is for the US military to use their systems for threat modeling and strategy. But again, they own this technology. They write this code-- which can't even make convincing footage of reality --and they can make it do anything they want. What if they decide they don't like you? The person reading this. All they need to do is add you to "The Pile" of data with the appropriate flags. Like putting your photo in there with the filename "TerroristThreat.jpg" or "Pervert.PNG."

This is the kind of power they want to give to these people.

There is no version of God or Thomas Jefferson which would be okay with this.

Again, the technology is not the issue. It's effectiveness is beside the point. The issue is the people controlling it. I URGENTLY recommend that this action be curtailed and that in fact tighter restrictions be enacted to ensure the safety and welfare of the public to respond to the rise of this unknown and barely justified technology. It is your duty to protect your children, your neighbors, your colleagues and the spirit of our divine species to refuse this capitulation to industrialist who are so distant from honor.
