General Comment

Hey, how bout not letting peoples work be stolen for what is already a failing technology by corporations to cut out working folk and try to profit off cheap labor, there is a place for AI in the world but i think first, only institutions or even people qualified in tech like programming and other types of coding should be the ones using it, two that any and all voice actors will be paid for theyre likeness and voices even being used and three to never have to use it to Illegally scrape archives of artists who themselves are just trying to make ends meet most the time. and look the ai of america is just to bad, bloated, and SO inefficient and unprofitable any way, China cooked them and i predict will repeatedly keep cooking them on this in every aspect, from financial to even having ethics with that. So for god sake stop thinking itll be like nff's crypto or whatever new scam it is, it will always never benefit even those actively trying to use it for scamming. i mean look how hard they have to fight to literally STEAL work from so many artists of all kinds, if it was ok in the first place this wouldnt be happening now would it.
