General Comment

AI is a big corporate scam used to steal from hard working individuals in order to promote stagnation and slop. AI cannot exist without stealing from artists, therefor, it should not exist at all. It is trying to make the artist obsolete, which in turn will remove the thing in which it will steal from. As such AI will become stagnant rapidly as the only thing it can produce or steal is from itself or other AI algorithms.

It is a straight violation of modern copyright laws when any individual creates something. These corporate goons want the ability to take our work for free!

There is no threat or interest to 'national security' here, this is a desperate attempt to remove the one barrier keeping them out. Once that barrier is gone, it's over. AI is not in competition with itself as it is a failing product, the investments provided to it over the years have yielded net losses for companies as they continue to waste funding on it. Do the right thing and let AI Action Plan die.
