General Comment

Not only do we have evidence that in the long run, AI will cost us more money than it will ever save.

But it is a direct insult to the many great artists we have to thank for American culture. From songs, to literature, films and paintings.

Using ai is an insult to the love, and true labor of the arts.

Do not let those who wish to reap from the memory of our greats, and newly developed artists go without due criticism and punishment
