General Comment

Sarcastically: I really love reading articles where I'm learning something, but all the images and text are inaccurate due to being AI generated.

You're going to cause more misinformation and your kids are not going to know the differences between truth and fake. People are losing their jobs to ai. As an artist I'm seeing first hand the decimation it's doing to our financial stability and the way we interact online. AiGen is causing social platforms to burst at the seams with false information and images that mean absolutely nothing. Once you allow this scraping to go further you'll start unearthing more confidential information and I'm certain it will disrupt the trust you have with US citizens and other countries. People losing their jobs to AI are not being cared for and you are abandoning your own citizens. There will more chaos besides a couple of teslas on fire if this passes.
