General Comment

I stand against AI in all forms, and removing the "guardrails" of copyright is an inherently profit driven and anti-artist action. America does not need AI to be exempt from copyright for it to be useful in matters of nation security, America doesn't need AI to replace the Artists who have captured and spread our culture since the dawn of this nation, America does not need a company stealing art from it's creatives to further it's own ends. enough with the colorful words do not pass this.
