General Comment

I am a professional writer. I work hard, every damn day, to create what I do. I do not want my hopes, my dreams, my words, gobbled up by some soulless computer only to be spit back out again devoid of any body or soul.

I dont believe greedy assholes should be able to use my work for free to train their machines- machines they are training to replace me and what I do.

AI is meant to make our lives better. To do the mundane work so that we can be better humans - freeing us to wonder about the universe. To marvel in its beauty. To create masterpieces that move people to tears. To create silly little stories that make people laugh.

AI is not meant to output art. Not meant to destroy the world we live in. Destroy lives by replacing humans in order to save a buck.

AI does not belong in creative places. And it certainly should not be trained on copyrighted works.
