General Comment

AI is an under-regulated mess and a disaster for privacy. The line between private life and private intellectual property is thinly drawn; loosening copyright protections for AI risks the creation of virtual revenge porn- a failure state already witnessed, according to some news stories, even in cases involving minors. This is fundamentally unconscionable. We cannot continue to enable a parasitic technology that weaponizes the public sphere against its occupants- to do so is to destroy the relationship between civilians and society.
