General Comment

Hi!

I work in film and television and already know, from the tools that are out there, that things I have worked on have had their copyright infringed upon by OpenAI and other GenAI companies. This DIRECTLY negatively affects my ability to earn a living and to provide for my family. I recognize that AI development will continue. But companies like OpenAI MUST be held accountable for their business practices, including knowingly infringing on other people's work to generate wealth for themselves. Allowing them to do what they want will cripple multiple generations of artists and creators. The long term benefits of making Sam Altman richer do not come close to outweighing the costs to the economy in that will happen when American culture, art and entertainment (which are key to the way the nation is seen across the world) is cheapened and destroyed.
