General Comment

Just don't.

AI is already stealing jobs from people with diplomas, experience and the desperate need for a well paying career. As well, this model has been proven to be immensely flawed with how it relays information, as it reads anything even remotely related to a subject that would have no facts or could intentionally be misleading.

The biggest complaint will be how it required plagiarism to even function. If this request goes through, the flood gates will open for stolen content, as if it wasn't already quite the issue in journalism and art.

Do not let this pass. Do not let plagiarism become legal. Do not let AI win.
