General Comment

"AI" is not necessary for national security, nor is dominance in the market needed for global power. "AI" as it exists today is vastly overstated in capabilities and often misnamed in an attempt to mislead people about what it can do. What AI will do is further damage the economy by destroying the livelihoods of countless hardworking American citizens by stealing their work and putting them unfairly out of jobs.

It will do nothing but harm the American people, our small business owners who work hard to earn their place in this country.
