General Comment

Allowing an AI company to completely ignore copyright law is an awful idea, tech companies should not be allowed to legally steal the hard work and creations of actual people. There is no societal benefit to theft of creative works, but there is societal benefit to human-made art, and allowing AI companies to steal intellectual property will stifle artistic creativity and artistic business. Please do not allow OpenAI to rampantly steal the hard work of artists and creatives with no recourse for those affected.
