General Comment

Hello, dear reader or whoever may read this. Like most of the comments you will receive in this comment section, I am highly against the unregulation of AI technology in any form of culture or the future of society. The dangers of unregulated technology are a frightening and dangerous situation that can put a lot of industries, small businesses, arts, and entertainment in danger. I know that is probably something big tech or our government really considers worth anything; however, if unregulated, think of all the damage it could do. Fake headlines, pictures, and videos. This kind of technology can cause irreparable harm. Wars could even be started from these dangerous practices, so please reconsider.
